Gatherings Can Light Up Your Home — Without Extra Cost

When guests are over, it's common for lighting, electronics, and kitchen appliances to run at the same time. Staggering heavier-use appliances helps reduce strain on your home's energy use while keeping your space welcoming.

Quick Tips When Hosting:

- Use one main gathering space so you're not lighting unused rooms
- Stagger the use of appliances like dishwashers and ovens
- Unplug countertop appliances that aren't in use

Use the Energy Insights tool in MyAccount to see how hosting affects your usage, so you can spot patterns and stagger appliances more efficiently.
